

COL. ROBERT E. LEE WILL BE ORATOR

Confederate Memorial Day to Be Celebrated in Winchester June 6.

ALWAYS NOTABLE HOLIDAY

Entire Shenandoah Valley Will Be Represented by Large Delegations.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Winchester, June 4.—Colonel Robert E. Lee, of Fairfax, grandson of the commander of the Confederate armies, will be the principal speaker on Confederate Memorial Day in Winchester, which will be a large, informal reception in his honor. Mrs. Virginia Faulkner McSherry, of Martinsburg, W. Va., president-general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, will also be present. Confederate Memorial Day is the most notable holiday of the year in Winchester, and whether it rains or shines, the historic and battle-scarred town of the lower Shenandoah Valley is always thronged with visitors on that day, some of whom see the town but once a year. Many people living in the mountains start early in the morning for Winchester on their annual pilgrimage to Stonewall Cemetery, in which nearly 2,000 Confederate soldiers are buried from every Southern State. The entire Shenandoah Valley always is largely represented by delegations from the various Confederate veteran camps and the people in general.

The result of the Democratic primaries of Saturday, in which Richard Evelyn Byrd, of Winchester, was nominated to succeed himself in the General Assembly as the delegate from Winchester and Frederick county, means that he will be re-elected in the November election. He will also be a candidate for re-election as speaker of the House, a position which he has held for several years. In view of the fact that nearly every office in Frederick county is to be filled at the regular election, there was an unusually large vote in the primaries, due wholly to the activity of candidates for the various offices. The Democrats of Winchester only voted for a candidate for the legislature.

Samuel V. Long, son-in-law of Captain S. A. Seabright, of Winchester, who is thought to have fallen from a freight train in Hagerstown on Friday night, was found dead, with his back broken, by employees of the Western Maryland Railroad. It is supposed that he was on his way to Greensville, Pa., to spend the week-end at the home of his parents. He was a son of W. H. Long, twenty-five years old, and leaves his parents, young widow, three brothers and one sister. His body was not mutilated.

Notwithstanding the voters of Charlottesville, Jefferson county, Va., voted recently in favor of continuing the licensing of liquor saloons, the Anti-Saloon League has obtained the signatures of over 2,000 voters of the county, which will be presented to the county court when it meets to-morrow morning, urging the court not to grant licenses anywhere in the county.

Joseph Placa, member of an old Frederick county family, who had been living with relatives in Martinsburg for several years, died there a few days ago, aged eighty-one years. He served in the Confederate Army and was also a member of the Masonic fraternity. His remains were interred at Greenspring, this county.

Large numbers of members of the Church of the Brethren, living in the Shenandoah Valley, have gone to St. Joseph, Mo., to attend the annual meeting of that denomination, which will last about two weeks, and will be attended by upwards of 10,000 delegates and visitors from all sections of the United States. The denomination has a large membership in the Virginia Valley, there being about 4,000 alone in Rockingham county.

Rev. James Gray McAllister, formerly of the Union Theological Seminary, of Richmond, but now professor of Biblical theology in the Louisville (Ky.) Theological Seminary, preached this morning in the Presbyterian Church in Winchester. He is a son-in-law of J. W. Russell, of Winchester, and he and his family are spending the summer here.

The new parsonage of the United Brethren Church, in Winchester, which was completed recently, was dedicated to-day by Bishop Carter, of Tennessee. In the presence of a large gathering of people. Rev. H. E. Richardson is pastor of the local church.

H. Clay Krebs, one of the best known business men of Winchester, was taken desperately ill of an anemia a few nights ago while talking with members of his family, and for a long time his life was despaired of. Mr. Krebs is the oldest member of Winchester Hiram Lodge, No. 21, A. F. & A. M., and was recently presented with a handsome gold past master's jewel on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of his membership.

Mrs. Sarah Conner, widow of Isaac Conner, Sr., died a few days ago at her home near Stephen's City, aged about eighty years. She leaves a large family and connection. She had been a member of the Methodist Church over sixty years.

The congregations of Opequon Memorial and Cedar Cliff Presbyterian Churches, which have been without a pastor since the death of Rev. Henry M. White last November, held meetings to-day and decided to extend a call to Rev. Alfred D. Jones, of Montgomery, Va., who recently preached for the churches at Kernstown and Vaucluse, Va., in which event he will serve several other county churches.

James M. Rutherford and Miss Mary Martha Hook, members of well-known Frederick county families, were married in Winchester, at the home of the latter's uncle, B. H. Post, last week, by Rev. W. H. Carter, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Large receptions were held at the homes of the parsons of the bride and groom on Thursday and Friday.

The annual Sunday school convention of the Shenandoah Baptist Association is to be held on June 7, 8 and 9 in the First Baptist Church, in Winchester. It is expected that over 100 delegates and other visitors will be in attendance during the meeting, for which an attractive program has been prepared.

BALLOON RACE WON BY PENNSYLVANIA

In Distance and Duration University Beat Dartmouth and Williams.

Peabody, Mass., June 4.—The University of Pennsylvania is the winner of the first intercollegiate balloon race in the history of aeronautics, having defeated Dartmouth and Williams in distance and for duration in the race that began at North Adams yesterday afternoon. The Pennsylvania balloon "Philadelphia II," landed at West Peabody at 11:15 last night, after covering a distance of 115 miles in a little over seven hours.

The occupants of the "Philadelphia II," A. E. Atherholt, the pilot, and George A. Richardson, of the University of Pennsylvania, reported that they had landed in the woods during a heavy thunder storm, which forced the racers to remain under cover in their tents until this morning. The greatest height reached by the Pennsylvania entry was 12,000 feet, over Fitchburg.

Pilot Atherholt said that the wind of yesterday was exceptionally tricky. "We were driven in all directions," said he, "but I threw out some ballast, and could have stayed up all night if we had wanted to."

A flash of light, which they mistook for a ray from a lighthouse on the coast, led them to venture a descent in the dark rather than run the risk of being carried out to sea.

The three contestants left North Adams yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock. The Dartmouth balloon, "Boston," piloted by Jay B. Benson, with John W. Pearson as observer, was the first to land, coming down at 10:30 P. M. in West Pelham, Mass., after three hours and fifteen minutes of air traveling. An hour and a quarter later the Williams balloon, "Stevens," with H. P. Sherman as pilot and K. T. Price as passenger, landed at Saxton, sixty-six miles in an air line from North Adams.

All the big gas bags had 35,000 cubic feet capacity.

S. Royester, of Oxford.

PRIX DE DIANE WON BY 30 TO 1 SHOT

Paris, June 4.—The Whitcombte entries and brilliant weather attracted record crowds to the Chantilly race course to-day, where the feature was the Prix de Diane (the French Oaks), a stake valued at $18,000. Many Americans witnessed this event, in which twenty-one horses started.

W. K. Vanderbilt's Brume was a strong favorite, and made the running easily, but when N. M. Belmont's Rose Verte, an outsider in the betting at 30 to 1, came up strongly and won by a length and a half. Brume finished second, with Marquis, Laistond, Sibylla third. Frank Gould's Jarretiere was unplaced. The Prix de Diane was for three-year-old fillies, at ten and one-half furlongs.

Frank Gould's Combourg ran second in the Prix Hedouville, at ten furlongs.

IMPOSSIBLE TO HOLD TRY-OUTS

New York, June 4.—For the last couple of weeks some international gossip has been caused by the announcement of the date for the closing of the entries at Stockholm next year, which was said to have made it impossible for America to hold try-outs. It worried the athletic officials to such an extent here that Professor Boone brought it before the international conclave at Budapest, where it is reported, a week's extension was granted. That is, instead of the entries for America closing on June 6, the date will be June 14. What good the extra time will do is not very clear just now, and when a little closer it would appear that the situation is hardly improved.

A simple solution of the tangle would be for the American Olympic committee to pick the team without any try-out, as it did in 1906 for Athens. This time there was some howling and criticism, but nevertheless the American committee, did as it saw the best, with a number of points to be adopted again with better chances for success. A. C. Keener method to go to the meet before the inter-collegiate sprinter, that of Cornell, was the master of the field in the mile and half race, was a good one for 440 yards; that Babcock, of Columbia, was the best pole vaulter; that Horner, of Michigan, was the best weight putter in college.

The executors named a new editor, when H. C. Beauchamp, who had been in charge for several years, declined to vacate, contending that the property is not a part of the Brownlow estate, and now the printers are out on a strike.
